Ann Holt retiring after 35 years of helping our special kids learn

By ALISON ALOISIO

Ann Holt, director of special services for SAD44, will retire next month after attending her favorite annual event in the district — the Telstar High School graduation.

Holt, who was recently named Maine's Special Services Administrator of the Year, leaves her current position after 17 years, and after working a total of 35 years in SAD44.

Her department serves youngsters who must deal with everything from learning difficulties to physical disabilities. She oversees the education of about 170 students.

"I know all of them," she said.

That's why graduation is a high point for her — seeing the students she has followed for years reach that milestone.

"I've seen them from kindergarten," said Holt. "Graduation is very important to them and their parents. I've been to every one but one."

Greenwood roots

A Greenwood native, she was inspired to go into teaching in part by her aunt, Colista Morgan, who taught in a one-room school in Greenwood City.

During college, Holt worked summers in the Oxford County Headstart program, helping youngsters with disabilities.

"I loved it," she said.

She began teaching in SAD44 in 1970, at Telstar High School. Her degree from Gorham State Teacher's College was in social studies, but with few openings in that area then, she went right into teaching special education.

"I almost quit after three days," she said, because of par-

Couple's mobile home sits in legal limbo at former tire dump site

Greenwood officials say they would like to help a young couple who hope to move back into a trailer on the Rabbit Road — but the prospects are not bright.

"It's slim to nil," said Selectman Wayne Hakala, "but it's worth looking into."

Several obstacles are in the way:

The trailer is on land that now belongs to the town.

There is no evidence of a deed transferring the land on which the trailer sits to the current owner.

For several years taxes have not been paid on the land.

And — finally and most daunting — the state of Maine has a $780,000 lien on the land.

The trailer is owned by Peter M. Gordon, who was given permission by his father, Peter A. Gordon, to place the trailer on one corner of a 34-acre parcel of land owned by the father.

But no deed was drawn up to legally separate the smaller trailer parcel from the rest of the larger parcel — which was the site of an illegal tire dump containing 1.2 to 1.4 million tires.

In 1999, the Maine Department of Environmental Protection shut down the tire dump, and the following year DEP spent nearly a million dollars in state bond funds to clean up the site.

DEP was able to recoup part of the clean-up costs by selling the tires to the Maine Turnpike Authority, which used them as an ingredient in pave-

SCATTER STOCKING ANDROSCOGGIN SALMONIDS
Jeff Levesque of the Mollycodd Chapter of Trout Unlimited prepares to release some of the 850 rainbow and brown trout that were distributed by hand Monday between Gilead and West Bethel. Four drift boats and two canoes, each towing two to four inner-tub "cars" holding the fish, took part in the operation. This was the first-ever "scatter stocking" on the Androscoggin, and only the second on any Maine river. (Photo: M. Daniels)

Anglers betting new stocking technique will have creel impact in river's already productive fishery

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Trout fishing in the nearby Androscoggin River might just be pretty fine this season.

And next.

In recent years, as its water quality continues to improve, the stretch of river west of Bethel has been attracting increasing numbers of trout and smallmouth bass anglers.

On Monday their prospects for success got a big boost, as the river between Gilead and West Bethel received its first-ever "scatter stocking" of rainbow and brown trout.

This was only the second such stocking on any Maine river. The first, last year on the Kennebec, was judged a definite success.

"That fishery was the best it has ever been," said Jeff

Levesque. "They were catching browns where they never had before."

Levesque is secretary of the Mollycodd Chapter of Trout Unlimited. T.U. volunteers took part in the stocking, a joint effort of T.U., the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce and Sun Valley Sports.

Scattering not piping

Scatter (or "float") stocking, while labor intensive, is believed to greatly increase the survival rate of stocked fish.

The technique differs from traditional river stocking in that instead of piping high numbers of trout directly from tanker trucks into a few

New ATV laws and stepped-up enforcement will mean big hits in the pocketbook for violators

By ALISON ALOISIO

ATV riders violating Maine law this season are being put on notice.

"The day of warnings are pretty much over," said game warden Steve Allarie, who covers the Bethel region. "We won't be giving many breaks."

Allarie said wardens statewide are stepping up enforcement efforts statewide this year, "based on the complaint volume we've had through the governor's office and our agency."

This will also be the first full season of stricter laws governing the operation of ATVs. The laws went into effect last August.

They include a mandatory $1,000 fine for failure to stop for a law enforcement officer, or attempting to elude the officer.

There can also be stiff fines for abusing private property, operating under the influence, reckless operation, operating to endanger and speeding.

Allarie said he has already received reports from Newry of ATVs illegally riding on snowmobile trails. And he levied a fine of $800 on the father of a 15-year-old who accumulated six violations in one outing.

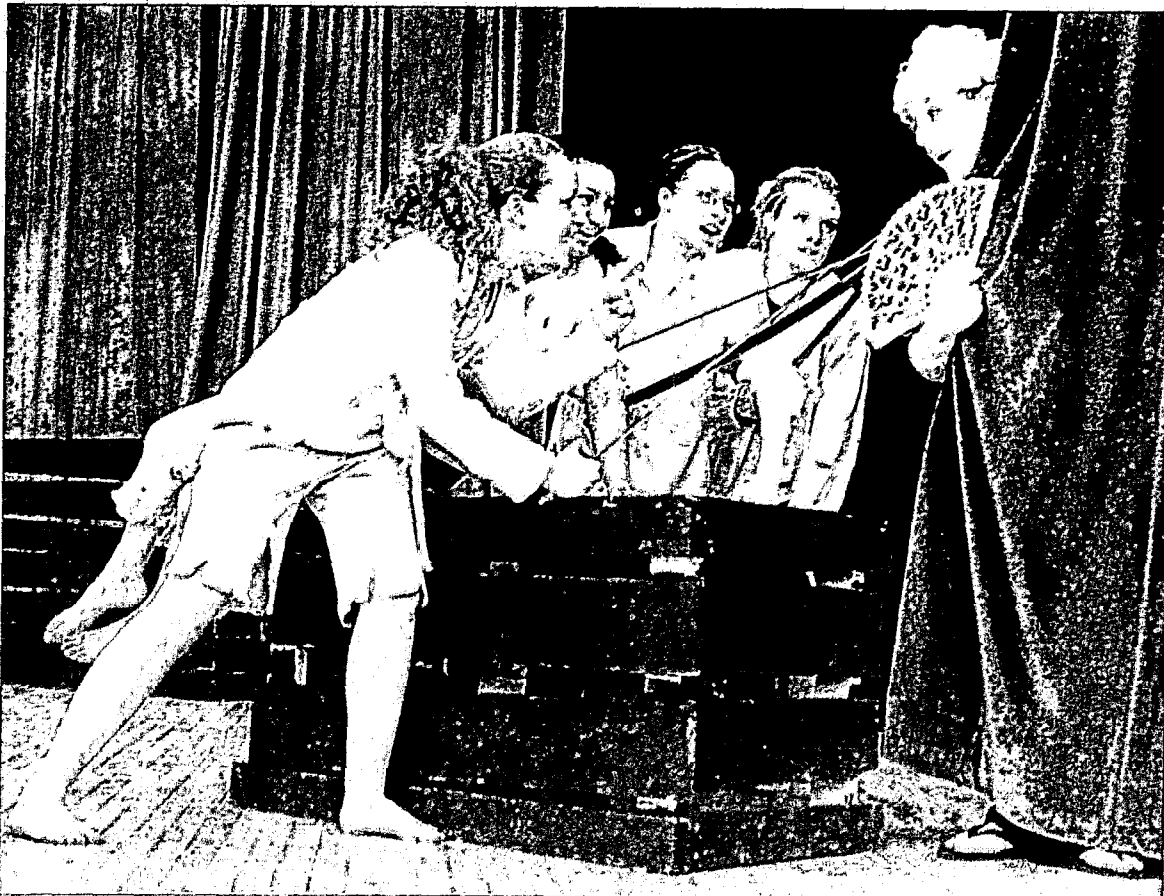

Parents are also civilly responsible for property damage their underage children cause.

That doesn't mean the young rider gets off without punishment. "Don't be surprised if a 16-year-old goes to court," said Allarie. "If you're riding by yourself, I expect you to know all the laws."

Allarie and other wardens aren't just pursuing a get-tough policy, however. They're encouraging the for-

Wardens: Let wild critters stay wild critters

By ALISON ALOISIO

With the coming of spring, animals and their young are emerging, and their paths will inevitably cross with humans. And the experience can be deadly for the wildlife, even if the human is playing the role of Good Samaritan.

Sometimes people who come upon what appears to be an abandoned young raccoon or other mammal will pick it up, then contact the Maine Warden Service.

But because of the risk of rabies — even a remote risk — wardens have a strict policy they must follow with the animal.

"If [people] touch it, most likely it's going to die," said Warden Steve Allarie, who covers the Bethel region.

For liability reasons, wardens must kill the animal and then send it off to be tested for the disease, he said.

Allarie said people should also remember that some mother animals, especially deer, will deliberately leave their young for up to 24 hours or so, and then return.

For a cute young animal, your friendly human touch will probably be the kiss of death.

"It's best to let nature take its course," he said, unless it's clear the mother is dead.

The warden service policy on animals that have been touched by humans is a reflection of liability concerns. Allarie said, rather than rampant rabies.

The disease has not been particularly prevalent in the region in recent years. "It moves in patches," said Allarie.

He said people should still keep an eye out for animals behaving strangely. "But just because you see a fox in a field doesn't mean it's rabid," Allarie said.

Other animal issues
Area residents are also reminded that large animals, especially bear and moose, are now active.

"It's a desperate time for bears," said Allarie, as they wait for their natural food, such as berries, to become available. Meanwhile, they seek out trash kept outside and birdseed from feeders. That can lead to trouble.

"Keep your household trash inside. It's the number one

VIAL OF LIFE INFO

To the Editor:

After putting my letter in the paper last week about the Open House at Bethel Rescue, which is occurring on May 15 from 2 to 7 p.m., I have been approached by several people asking what the Vial of Life is. This is a program that was started to give Rescue members personal information about you.

The forms will be available at our open house. You fill out as much of the form as you want. You keep the forms at your house on the refrigerator and in the refrigerator.

If the ambulance needs to respond to your residence our members will then know where to find these forms. This is very important because sometimes as a patient you get nervous or for medical reasons are unable to tell us information about yourself.

Often people think that their loved ones know their medical information and could provide us with this information, but do you know all the medications your loved ones are on? Do you know what medical conditions they have? Do you know what their normal blood pressure, pulse, and respiratory rates are? These are only some of the questions we are asking community members to fill out.

I strongly recommend taking the time to stop in on May 15 between 2 and 7 p.m. to either fill out these forms with our assistance or at the very least pick up these forms.

It only takes a few minutes. If we run out of forms we will take down your phone number and address and make sure you get them. This is free.

Some people may ask why we are doing this. For two reasons, first it helps make our job easier and more accurate in a stressful situation.

The second and more important reason is because we care for our community members. So, please take the time to stop in on May 15 anytime between 2 to 7 p.m. at the expanded Rescue station.

SALUTE OUR HOMETOWN HEROS

To the Editor:

Traditionally, Armed Forces Day celebrations are conducted at or near large military installations on the third Saturday in May. In previous years, not all cities and towns participated; there just was not a direct connection.

That all changed Sept. 11, 2001. Today our community is blessed with outstanding men and women serving in uniform on our behalf in the war against terrorism. They are our neighbors, friends and relatives who are members of the National Guard and Reserves sharing the burden of battling terrorism around the globe with active duty forces.

There are also the wives and husbands, the children and family members who pray for the safe return of their loved ones every day they are deployed with their unit.

On this Armed Forces Day, May 21, let us salute our hometown heroes. Together as a community let us personally thank them as we enjoy a day of family fun, games and the warmth of spring.

They are America's newest wartime veterans. We are honored to call them comrades.

JUST A HEADS UP

To the Editor:

This is not a letter of harassment or out of anger, this is in regard to the SAD44 cuts. I have only heard bits and pieces of this, but I do understand that there are going to be some possible positions taken, so I just wanted to take the opportunity to thank and recognize a couple of great people on my behalf and the Class of 2005: Lisa Pivin, an amazing teacher and person teaches very important skills and classes; Gail Wight, what are they going to do without Gail?; and Cheryl Angevine, Class of 2005's advisor and librarian, we are going to miss you. These teachers have been amazing role models.

Again, this is not to offend or downgrade anyone but just a heads up.

COMMUNITY BAND SPRING CONCERT

To the Editor:

It's spring. The peepers are talking. The ducks, loons and geese are back. The ice is out. Some of the flowers are blooming. Even the crocuses have gone by. The grass is greener. The days are longer. It's still raining.

And another sign of spring — The Mahoosuc Community Band is ready for its spring concert. All are invited Monday night, May 16, for a night of fun music at 7 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel. Any who can't come to Bethel may come Sunday afternoon, May 22 at 4 p.m. at the Green church in Mexico.

Patricia Boyle-Wight is our director. The band members are all musicians that just play music because it's fun. Many haven't played in several years. The band rehearses Monday nights at 7 p.m. New members are always welcome.

Come Monday night, hear the music and support your local community band.

MARCH OF DIMES THANKS

To the Editor:

The March of Dimes Committee would like to thank all the volunteers that made our walk on May 1 possible. A special thanks to Olson Tents, the Boy Scout Troops of Bethel, Bethel Family Health Center, Bethel Fire Department, Bethel Foodliner, Sunday River and Robert Folsom.

We raised $11,600 this year and it would not have been possible without the generous donations of so many thoughtful people.

We would also like to acknowledge the fourth and fifth grades at Crescent Park School. They raised an outstanding $1,270. A standing ovation goes out to those young people from all of us.

If anyone would like their mile marker signs back, they are at the Health Center.

Again, thank you all so much for the contributions to March of Dimes research to help future babies live healthier lives.

GRAND OPENING OF WATERFORD BALLFIELD

To the Editor:

Last year, the town of Waterford received a grant totaling over $21,700 from the Baseball Tomorrow Fund to complete renovations of the town's baseball diamond that had fallen into disrepair. Additionally, a competitive girls' softball program was established. Now, the Waterford Sandlot Committee invites you to help celebrate the Grand Opening of the field on Saturday May 14, at 1 p.m. (rain date: Sunday, May 15, at 1 p.m.) at "Sandlot" on Route 118, Waterford.

The Waterford Sandlot Committee is a grassroots effort of concerned parents and community volunteers responsible for fundraising and the development of the field. Through the support of the town and local contractors, the field is now ready for play.

The Baseball Tomorrow Fund is a joint initiative between Major League Baseball and the Major League Baseball Players Association. It is designed to promote and enhance the growth of baseball throughout the world by funding programs, fields and equipment purchases to encourage and maintain youth participation in baseball and softball.

ticular issues with students.

But Holt persevered. She eventually found that her own interest in cars, snowmobiles and sports helped her connect with many of her students, particularly the boys.

"I really liked cars, and races at Oxford Plains Speedway," she said. "[The students] would bring in car magazines, and they could tell I knew something about it."

The magazines and special easy-reading books on cars helped motivate the students to read, she said.

It also didn't hurt that she owned a 1974 Mustang, she said.

In addition to using her car-related resources, Holt papered the walls of her classroom with posters of Boston sports teams, providing another avenue of discussion that could lead to reading.

She also took her students on field trips, involved them in Special Olympics and just plain had fun with them.

"We really engaged the kids," she said.

Moving up

In 1978, Holt earned a master's degree in education. And in 1988, she became director of the district special services program.

She and her staff continue to draw on whatever resources they can find to help students get an education.

Many have gone through the Region 9 program, which provides them training in areas such as truck driving, certified nurse's assistance and computer training.

In some cases, particularly within the computer-training program, students' lives have been transformed, Holt said.

She also has students who go on to four-year colleges.

Despite becoming an administrator, she still gets into classrooms at least once a week to see how the youngsters and their teachers are doing.

"I need to see students," she said.

And she uses her own rough start in the classroom to help give both students and new special education teachers perspective.

"When I talk with students and they think they have to have everything planned out, I tell them I didn't, and I have no regrets," she said. "If we have disappointments, something else may come along. Don't fold up your tent."

And if a new teacher says, "I can't do this," said Holt, "I tell them, 'if you really don't like it, all right. But if you like it, we can get over these difficulties.'"

Today's challenge in special education, and in all of education, is meeting the ever-increasing standards set by the state and federal government, Holt said.

"There's a 1000 percent difference in the amount of paperwork [since she started in the field]," Holt said. "There's hardly any time to teach anymore. It's a balancing act, but it has to be done."

She said she has stayed for her whole career in SAD44 because the administration has always been very supportive of her efforts. And she credits administrators and her staff with helping her win state recognition in her final year.

"I didn't earn it alone," she said.

And what's next for her?

"I haven't a clue," said Holt. "I hope to get better acquainted with my home. I haven't spent much time there."

Trail grooming bill moves ahead

AUGUSTA — Legislation to require the registration of snowmobile trail-grooming equipment used on official Maine trails and set one-time registration fees moved closer to final enactment Monday. By a 102-34 roll call vote, the House gave final approval to a bill setting the restrictions, which are seen as a safety measure on Maine's network of trails. The bill faced a final Senate vote before it can be sent to the governor. The measure restricts registration of trail-grooming equipment to those who have a contract with the state Conservation Department. The bill allows for some exceptions, such as private landowners and commercial ski areas. The new law would set one-time registration fees of $33. Fines for violators would range from $100 to $500. Rep. Richard Trahan (R-Waldoboro) said he submitted the bill at the request of the Maine Snowmobile Association, which was concerned about the use of inappropriate equipment like old mattresses to groom trails. Trahan said bad grooming equipment can create safety hazards.

Rain's yield: plenty of biting bugs

LEWISTON — April showers yield May flowers. Last month's unrelenting rain may also yield a bumper crop of black flies and mosquitoes. Many communities across Maine recorded double the average rainfall for April, according to the National Weather Service. All of that rain in addition to a deep snowpack has caused standing water and heavy flows on rivers and streams. "Mosquitoes breed in standing water. Black flies breed in moving water. We've had plenty of both," said Dave Struble, the state entomologist. Struble, along with Jim Dill of the University of Maine Extension Service, said Mainers should take precautions to avoid being bitten by mosquitoes, which are known carriers of a variety of diseases, most recently the West Nile virus. Dill suggested that people initiate a spring dumping of water from old tires, buckets left outside, rain gutters and elsewhere. "Birdbaths should be flushed once a week, too," he noted. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention is recommending the use of repellents containing the chemical picaridin or the oil of lemon eucalyptus for "long-lasting protection against mosquito bites." Picaridin and the oil join DEET-based repellents as those considered the best protection against insects.

N.H. nixes more coyote night hunts

CONCORD, N.H. — Coyotes will remain safe from hunters at night after the Fish and Game Commission dropped a plan to extending hunting hours during the summer. Coyotes can be hunted year-round during daytime hours, and a night hunt is allowed January through March. The commission had proposed allowing night hunting during the summer also, to reduce the coyote population and protect the deer they prey upon. But commissioners said both the public and law enforcement officers opposed the idea. Members of the public feared being woken up at night by gunfire; law enforcement was concerned hunters would take deer out of season. "From a wildlife perspective, it is not going to result in a large number of animals taken but a fair amount of ill will," said Fish and Game Executive Director Lee Perry. "It is not going to make any real difference in protecting the herd but considerable problems with the public." In Maine, coyotes can be hunted year round from one half hour before sunrise to one half hour after sunset. From Jan. 1 to April 30 they can be hunted after dark with a coyote night hunting permit.

Cheap rents a problem for Berlin

CONCORD, N.H. — With cheap and plentiful housing, the city of Berlin has become a magnet for the poor. It's hard for many in the state to imagine a two-bedroom apartment renting for less than $500 — and that includes utilities. But new arrivals soon find there are few jobs, and many end up turning to the city for help. "Over 50 percent of the people who applied for assistance had lived in the community less than a year," Mayor Robert Danderson said of a recent study his city conducted. City officials say needy newcomers are coming to Berlin from southern New Hampshire and in some cases Massachusetts. At the urging of the Berlin City Council, the Legislature is considering a proposal to allow towns to bill each other when a person moves from one community to another and needs aid. The proposal, passed by the Senate to the House, would allow towns to seek reimbursement for aid during the first 90 days after a person moves in. But New Hampshire cities and towns can't bill Massachusetts or other states. And people who stay more than 90 days and need assistance would still be the city's responsibility.

ASC, L.L. Bean to partner

PARK CITY, UTAH — American Skiing Company (ASC) and L.L.Bean yesterday announced their new outerwear partnership. Beginning this fall, L.L.Bean will be the official outerwear supplier to leading ski resorts including Steamboat, The Canyons, Killington and Sunday River. As part of the agreement, L.L.Bean's top product developers and designers are working in conjunction with experts from the ASC staff to develop a complete outerwear system for all on-snow resort employees. American Skiing Company is the operator of eight ski and snowboard resorts: Sunday River and Sugarloaf in Maine; Killington, Pico and Mount Snow in Vermont; and Attitash in New Hampshire; and in the west Steamboat in Colorado and The Canyons in Utah.

CORRECTION

Bird walk May 14 — An item in last week's "Briefly" should have said a White Mt. National Forest bird walk will take place Saturday, May 14.

From the Bethel Police Log:

ment at turnpike exits. DEP then put a lien on the Gordon property for the unrecovered balance of clean-up costs — approximately $780,000. Gordon had also stopped paying property taxes on the larger parcel, and in 2001 the town of Greenwood foreclosed on it. That left the younger Gordon with no claim to the land on which his trailer sat. And following the foreclosure the town attorney sent a letter asking that the trailer be removed. Last week the younger Gordon and Deanna Ryerson, the other half of the couple, along with some family members, approached the selectmen about the possibility of working out a solution that would allow the couple to live in the trailer. "We're just trying to figure out what we can do — if we can do anything," said Craig Ryerson, Deanna's father. "My understanding is the trailer has to be moved. My question is: 'Why does it have to be moved?'" The couple had paid some taxes to the town, but only on the trailer and septic system as personal property, not on the land, according to Town Manager Kim Sparks.

Peter's mother, Susan Gordon, said: "It's not fair on the town's part not to let them know they were paying only on [personal] property, not on the land." Craig Ryerson asked if the couple "had any recourse. ... The intent was for these two kids to have this land. It's unfortunate what happened with his father and the land and all that. ... It's not their fault. I would like to see if something can be done, that's all." The selectmen expressed sympathy, but said that with the state involved, there might not be anything the town could do — even if voters wished to sell off the smaller parcel. And, warned Hakala, the process of reaching a solution with the state "could take years." The selectmen instructed Sparks to check with the town's attorney to see what options, if any, might be available. DEP Enforcement Specialist Randy McMullin oversaw the tire dump clean up. As far as DEP being willing to split off the smaller parcel, McMullin said Tuesday that "the department would probably withhold judgment until we saw a proposal."

sites on a river, the trout are instead distributed first to teams of boaters. The boaters (generally experienced anglers) then paddle or drift downriver, releasing the trout gently, and in small quantities at locations where they have the strongest chance of flourishing. Those locations include many habitats that could never be reached by the tank trucks. Scatter stocking also reduces the tendency of the fish to "pod," or stick together, which greatly increases their vulnerability to predators. "It spreads them out, and because they're spread out they live longer," said Levesque. He and others have high hopes for the local fisheries' future. Levesque compared the potential of the local fishery to its long-established counterparts on the famed Delaware and Battenkill rivers. "The Androscoggin River in Bethel can be one of the most productive trout fisheries in the country," he said. And that could have important consequences for the area's economy.

mation of ATV clubs, and cooperating with existing ones to help with education and landowner relations. Mike Worthley of the Roxbury ATV Club recently helped game warden Brock Clukey with a safety class at the Andover Elementary School. The six-hour class, for 10 to 16-year-olds, stressed both driving safety and being knowledgeable about the ATV itself — such as where the kill switch is located and the importance of correct tire pressure. Worthley said his club has helped with classes near Rumford, but it can sometimes be difficult for youngsters to get to that location. "We decided to work closely with Andover," he said. His club was organized last fall, and already has 76 members. "We get a lot of young kids joining with their parents," he said. "More are joining because of the new laws. And by joining, they can ride our trails. Some of the Andover kids volunteered to help with our trails." The club gets landowner permission, and then maintains the trails. Worthley said they are trying to be particularly considerate of landowners this spring, because the frequent rain has left trails muddy. Usually, their riding season would begin May 15, but they are delaying it until May 28 to let the trails dry out. More info Booklets on ATV laws are available at town offices. The laws can also be viewed online at www.state.me.us/ifw/rv/atvlaws.htm. To report ATVs riding illegally, call (800) 482-0730. If an observer can note the ATV's plate number — or even get a photo of the violator — the information would be particularly helpful to wardens, Allarie said.

cause [of bear problems]," said Allarie. "And keep your outside grills and the grease traps clean." As for people who can't resist feeding birds, he suggests putting the feeders out for an hour or so in the morning, "then pull them in for the day.

And you're taking a chance even then." Birdfeeders can also draw turkeys, which in turn attract fox and coyotes. The increasing turkey population is causing trouble of its own. Wardens are finding themselves trapping and relocating problem turkeys. "We've had to move some of them from farms up to Aroostook County," he said. "They go for the grain silos." Then there are the moose, who will soon be coming out into roadways to escape biting bugs. Because of the recent wet weather, the bug population is expected to be worse than usual, causing more discomfort for the moose. Ticks are already a problem, said Allarie. "The moose look awful right now. They've been rubbing on trees [to try to get the ticks off]."

A family party on Sunday at Bette's home included Pauline, Amanda Gilbert, and Malcolm Bennett of West Bethel; Ronnie, Karen and Zachary Gilbert of South Paris; Randy, Riley and Kayce Gilbert, Jady Lane all of Bethel. They also visited with many friends while they were in the area.

Betty and Henry Robertson's family that spent Mother's Day with them were Vickie Robertson, Jean and Glenn Ramsey of Scarborough, Jack and Merry Harkins of Brunswick.

Jean McGuire's family were together last Friday for a barbecue. Present were her son Michael, his wife, Eileen, and children, Brendon, Shane and Kate of Farmington; Megan and Christopher Cody of Litchfield and Sue, a chocolate lab puppy.

On Saturday, May 7, several ministers from Maine and New Hampshire along with Mr. Steffen's son and his pastor from Indiana, met at the Pleasant Valley Bible Church in West Bethel for the Ordination Council of Pastor Don Steffen.

fen. The council met for about three hours and unanimously recommended that Pastor Steffen be ordained to the Gospel ministry. The service of ordination took place at 6 p.m., with Pastor Duane Waite leading the service of ordination. Various pastors took part in the service, including Pastor Rod Huber from Indiana and Mr. Steffen's son, also from Indiana. Music was provided by Ben Conant and David Lloyd. Pastor and Mrs. Steffen serve under Village Missions and have been interim pastors at PVBC for the last 13 months. Their last service here will be on May 22, when they leave for their next field of ministry. The Steffens have been greatly loved and appreciated, both for their dedication to God, and the community. They will be greatly missed by all who know them.

Mother's Day has come and gone. If Mom thinks the kids were not listening to these admonitions to follow for living a good, clean life, she is wrong. This is a list of those tidbits they never forgot:

1. Always wear clean underwear, you may have to go to the hospital.
2. Never leave home without going to the bathroom.
3. Use it up, wear it out, make it do, or do without.

4. Idle hands are the devil's workshop.

5. No! You can't have a cat or a dog because I'm allergic to fur. Have you noticed that I don't have a fur coat?

6. Stand up straight in body and soul.

7. Don't act like sisters. Act like friends.

8. Neither a borrower nor a lender be.

9. Expectations are greater than realizations.

10. Stop your whining! You will only find fair in the dictionary.

11. You have to suffer to be beautiful. (Yeah!)

12. Always bring enough cash for a phone call home.

13. Don't dread getting old. Remember, life begins at forty.

14. Make your bed. After you have made your bed, lie in it.

15. Waste not, want not.

16. Get a good education. It will enrich your life.

17. Be a teacher for knowledge and respect and you'll have the summers off.

18. Do the best you can and you'll always be a winner.

19. Get over it, you will live. Save your tears you may need them in the future.

20. Don't pick your nose.

21. Good, better, best, never let it rest till the good is better and the better is best.

22. Pull up your pants!

23. Little pitchers have big ears.

24. If you are through with it, put it back where you found it.

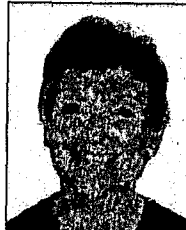

25. A real gentleman puts the toilet seat down.

There are many, many more. Space is limited so reminisce, remember to respect and love your own special mother.

The "Bird of the Week" is ain't.

Thank you to family and friends for all those beautiful cards that I received during my recent illness.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh
We are hearing spring peepers, but seem to have missed the tree frogs with their staccato croaks reverberating in the vernal pool. I guess they came and went while we were away. A survey of our "nature trail" along the brook revealed that some lady slippers have poked through the duff; hundreds of trillium are budded up; there are abundant signs of recent flooding; and the false hellebore is much in evidence. The hellebore is often called "skunk cabbage," but true skunk cabbage is another plant altogether. It is in the arum family, related to jack-in-the-pulpit, and actually looks like a short, squat, overweight jack. I've not seen any in Maine, but they were abundant in spring in my native Ohio.

Another sure sign of spring in our household is that we're eating dandelion salad. And while there is no asparagus as yet, the rhubarb plants are up about six inches. Another week and there should be enough for a pie. Meanwhile, some recent visitors to the birdfeeders have been evening grosbeaks, rose-breasted grosbeaks, and pine siskins. Our house sitter reported that a pair of mallards turned up there while we were away. The phoebes have built their nest where we can watch it from the back porch. Will keep you posted on any babies.

Jim Reuter is making progress on his cross-country bike tour. He has crossed the desert and the Great Divide, enduring the heat and sun, as well as 11,000 feet of climbing through rain and near-freezing temperatures. One of Jim's fellow riders is the sheriff of Nottingham in "olde" England and has actually served as a bodyguard to the queen.

In a message dated May 5, Jim reports having crossed the Oklahoma panhandle and biking in three states in one day: Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas. The group will be in Kansas for a while, on their way to St. Joseph, Mo. To follow Jim's trip more closely and see some pictures go to this website: <http://www.bamacyclist.com/journal2005/2005Fast/2fast.htm>.

In a May 7 message, Jim writes, "Rolled into Great Bend, Kansas today. Passed Midway, USA today, claim to fame being halfway between San Francisco and New York. Apparently I am on a longer path from Los Angeles to Boston, as our personal midway point lies still two days ahead in Topeka, KA."

"Kansas landscape has a kind of serene beauty to it, and the people seem great. Small towns, like Bethel in some ways, but in most ways totally different. Towns are visible on the horizon a dozen miles ahead, due to the grain elevator at each town's center. Most noticeable characteristics while on a bicycle are the relentless 30 mph southern winds."

We hear that the G & T Store (originally the Head Store, and many other configurations since) has been sold to a couple from New Hampshire. It is their plan to re-open the store essentially as George and Tubby ran it. It will be good to have that familiar gathering place and convenience store in business again.

Our next-door neighbor, Keith Giles, had an unpleasant turn of events during his vacation. Instead of a trip to Florida, he had a trip to the hospital after a couple of very painful gallbladder attacks. The offending sac was removed, and Keith is back to doing his spring chores. He has made a quick recovery, thanks to modern laparoscopic surgery. Stay well, Keith!

Let me know what signs of spring you have observed, or any news of note. Call 836-3011, or e-mail dhoe@megalink.net.

tains a square from each town in Oxford County mostly made by citizens of the towns. The Hanover square was crafted by Brenda Devoe and depicts features of the community. Currently, the actual quilt is being displayed for citizens to see in some of the county's towns and will eventually be displayed at the County Building in South Paris.

Last week, the Gardner Roberts Memorial Library was the recipient of a special gift. Robert Chase of Danville, N.H., donated a copy of his autobiography entitled "Mainer." Bob was born in Rumford Point and grew up in the Chase family home on Route 2 in Hanover in a home he now owns. The book tells of his growing up in this area and follows the events of his life until the present day.

Early Saturday morning, April 30, during the week of rain, the Rumford Fire Department and Central Maine Power Company were called to South Shore Road for a tree on the wires. The power was off in that section of town for about 45 minutes. During that incident an audible alarm at one of the South Shore Road homes deployed. It continued to ring for some time.

Dave, Bill, and Clem Worcester have received word that their cousin, Eleanor Garland from Dummerston, Vt., is very ill. She has been in poor health for several years.

The Hanover Board of Selectpersons will meet on May 16 at 5 p.m. at the Town Office.

The Planning Board met on May 4 and continued their work on the Subdivision Ordinance. They meet again on June 1.

The crew from D.A. Wilson swept sand from the town roads several weeks ago. This year it was during the wet weather, so dust didn't drift around as much as usual and the streets all came out looking clean.

I'm writing this column on Mother's Day. I hope everyone had a lovely Mother's Day. I talked to all my "kids" and everything is going well with all of them. It is kind of a cold, damp and gloomy day as far as the weather goes. We made sure that we hung out the hummingbird feeders this morning because they usually show up sometime during the day. It is late afternoon now and I haven't seen any yet. Maybe Mother's Day came too early for them this year.

I had an e-mail from my brother, Steve McLain, and he said he talked to his son, Capt. Stephen McLain this weekend. Stephen is counting down the days to when he will start his journey home from Iraq. His date of departure is set for May 19. We are all anxious for him to get back to the States.

It's nice to know that we have such caring neighbors in Gilead. This past week, while I was at work, my husband, Hugh, needed the assistance of Bethel Rescue to deliver him to Stephens Memorial Hospital. I reached Linwood by phone and he rushed to the scene, and members of the Gilead Fire Department heard the call when it was dispatched and got to the house as soon as possible. Jamie, Richard and Sue attended to Hugh until rescue arrived. Richard went a little further and rode to the hospital in the ambulance with Hugh. Sue contacted my brother, Steve, to let him know what was happening. We would like to thank the crew on duty with the ambulance and the Gilead Fire Department for their quick and very capable response. There have also been several phone calls inquiring about how Hugh is doing, and I would like to report that he is doing fine and is lucky that things turned out OK. After spending a night in the hospital, he returned home.

I had an e-mail from Sue Corriveau the other day. She wanted to say that recently she and her husband, Fred, went on a trip to Florida with Ken and Joanne Cole, who turned out to be great travel companions. They went to Inverness, Fla., to visit with Forrest and Gloria Young, who were a gracious host and hostess in their beautiful home. They had a great trip, the weather was wonderful, and it was nice to be warm and see the sun and palm trees. Fred and Sue's children, Michael and Mallorey, spent the time with Sue's parents in Portsmouth, N.H., and had a great time.

Gilead Historical Society
The next event for the GHS is the Oxford County Bicentennial celebration on June 11. Hopefully, several members will be able to attend and help staff the table that will be set up. Also, the society is still looking for pictures or copies of pictures that are of the Gilead Bicentennial or any that are from years past. Some pictures may not seem important, but I just received one in the mail the other day of the Civilian Conservation Corp camp in Wild River in 1934. The woman who sent the picture found it in a box belonging to a friend and thought it would be worth saving. She went on the Internet and found out that Gilead had a historical society. Thanks to the information that the Bethel Historical Society puts on their website about the GHS. This is a picture of the buildings that I have never seen before. It is a valued item to be added to the collection.

Hi everybody. Sunday, May 1, we had our first cookout of the season. We had it at Albert Nelson, Jr.'s to celebrate his birthday. There were 10 of us there to have hot dogs and cheeseburgers and cake and ice cream. Kitty made the potato salad and I made the cake. Happy Birthday, Gene, and many more.

Joyce White is an angel. She brought us some dandelion greens (the first of the season). And I cleaned them and cooked them and we had them for supper. They were wicked good. Albert and I like them very much. Thanks, Joyce. She also brought me some magazines, "Echoes" (she writes articles for them which are very interesting), and some American-Indian music tapes.

Last Tuesday, Frances Grant came up and helped make two more May baskets for Wednesday.

Wednesday, the Waterford Friendly Senior Citizens met at the North Waterford Church Vestry at 11:30 a.m. for their monthly meeting and potluck dinner. There were 13 of us there.

We were saddened to learn of the death of one of our members and a card of sympathy was signed by members present to be sent to the family of Barbara Gammon. Some members went to the services.

We had a good lunch and afterward filled the pretty little May baskets with goodies to be given to some people who are in nursing homes or at home alone. It was a fun thing to do.

Secretary and treasurer's reports were given and accepted as read. The members voted to have the next meeting at A.J.'s Everything Restaurant next month on June 1 at 11:30 a.m. Hope to see you all there.

Last night, daughter Cheryl called us from Virginia and was quite excited, as when she was working at the Newport News Airport and she was checking people in, she noticed a couple was from Waterford. Of course that led to conversation, as she does not get many people from Maine at that little airport. She found out that it was Roma Wilson and Persis Millett. Roma was surprised to meet Cheryl from Maine. She said she was real nice and seated them together. They had a good flight home.

Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 do not forget our next meeting will be May 25 at the K.P. Hall here in Stoneham for our Memorial meeting and members will attend church together on Sunday, May 29, and have a program on the church lawn honoring veterans of all wars and service. The public is welcome to join them there.

People of Stoneham, if you have any news you would like to have me put in my column, please call me at 928-3096 or drop it off to me. I would appreciate it.

The senior class of Telstar High School will be holding a car wash and bottle drive on Sunday, May 15. It will be held in Bethel at the bus garage from noon to 4 p.m.

Pastor Jane would like to thank everyone for all their help while she was laid up for the past several weeks. To all who called, sent cards, baked, visited, or prayed — Thank you, thank you!

This is a reminder that the Andover Educational Fund Scholarship deadline is fast approaching. Three of the scholarship applications must be submitted by May 15, to be reviewed by the board of directors. The common application from Telstar is not required to be eligible. We do need essays pertaining to the scholarships requested. Keep in mind the Fox Scholarship is an essay on civic contributions to the town of Andover; the Thurston Award is a 750-word essay "What an Education Means to Me" and the Sweatt Award requires a copy of your financial aid statement. Vocational school students are targeted. The Cutting Endowment needs to be filed by July 15. Contact Sharon Hutchins if you haven't received your application form.

Andrea Savitz, president of Andover Service Circle (ASC), wishes to remind everyone that this Saturday is Clean-up Day. Volunteers are asked to gather at Andover Town Hall at 8:30 a.m. Rubber gloves and plastic bags will be supplied to participants, along with a suggested clean-up area assignment. At 11 a.m., after trash has been dropped at the Andover Transfer Station, everyone will be invited back to Town Hall for refreshments.

Further, as in previous years, ASC will be sponsoring walkers for the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life to be held Friday into Saturday, May 20 to 21, at the Hosmer Field, Rumford. The walkers will be on a team called "The Driven Women and Company." The ASC members involved in organizing the team are Evelyn Bodemer, as team captain, and Betzee Lozier, as her able assistant.

Lastly, from now to Andover Old Home Days in August, ASC members will be taking orders for the 2006 Community Calendar. This wonderful calendar lists important community events along with anniversaries and birthdays, and it remains ASC's major fundraising effort. Saturday, May 14, will be the annual Community Clean-up Day.

The East Andover Post Office is a joy to step into these days. Postmaster Betty Davis has painted the ceiling and woodwork and papered the walls. Her husband, Foster, has done carpentry work making her work area more convenient for her. Stop by and see her accomplishments.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dorey, East Andover, have been traveling in the South for the past several months.

On May 3, Betty Moore and her sister, Beatrice Schneider, entertained nine members of the East Andover Community Club. President Barbara Meisner conducted the meeting. A card was signed for former member Dolly Jones, who is a patient at Ledgeview. Secretary Lorena Simmons had sent out many cards. She read the list of 14 Andover/Telstar Memorial awards will be presented to four students at the Alumni Banquet on May 28. The East Andover Community Club Senior Award of $150 was voted on. West Paris

by Joyce Lamb

Rain and more rain this week. The sun does manage to shine a bit.

The mini daffodils have multiplied greatly from last year. I will spread them out more when I work on the small flower garden. The early blossoms are extra special for they are so bright in the dead grass and old leaves.

At the Universalist Church in West Paris on Sunday, May 15, the Rev. Joy Gasta will have as her sermon topic, "The Parable of the Loaves and Fishes — for Us Today?" "When We Want to Celebrate, How We Do It Tells a Lot About Us." The organist is Jim Burke. A social coffee hour follows.

The North East District of the Unitarian-Universalist Church held its spring meeting in Auburn Friday evening and all day Saturday. The minister, Joy Gasta, and church members Doug and I attended.

Vince and Beverly Stevens entertained her brother and his wife, Roger and Beverly Thayer over the weekend. They celebrated Mother's Day with Georga Thayer.

Beryl Bonney and I were again shopping for groceries at Auburn Shaw's. It had been three or four weeks since we last shopped so had run out of a lot of the staples. How can people living alone use up so much?

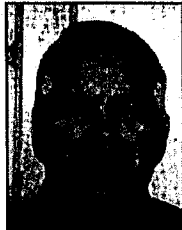

I took the paper hangers that beautified my living room out to eat at Maurices. We had an enjoyable time and the company and food were good. The girls were such a help to me.

Saturday afternoon in the wind and pouring rain I attended the graveside service for Richard Turner in the Paris Hill Cemetery. Many family and friends attended.

On Mother's Day I was glad to have a visit from daughter, Peggy, with her husband, Mike Seaton, who brought lunch with them. They also brought their setter dog, Mazie. Kenneth Lamb joined us. Peggy brought a huge pot of begonias of many colors from her and her sister, Jude, to brighten up the front porch. All six of the children had called and sent cards and gifts. It was a busy and happy day for Mother.

Dismal spring! I'm ready for some warm sunshine and D-R-Y!

A few days back, Mona and I walked up our road and were passed by a couple teen-age girls in their daddy's new big 4 X 4 pickup. A little farther up the road, we caught up to the truck with both wheels on the right side mired at the edge of the road. As we passed, I asked if they needed help, but they had dad on the cell phone. I bet he was really pleased with them.

I'm happy to report that Brother Rupert had eye surgery last week, and everything went well. He had a cataract removed.

Mona and I returned Friday evening from a 3,000-plus mile trip to Missouri and Illinois, where my daughters, Anita and Cheryl, live. We took the pickup in order to deliver a desk and two-drawer chest to Anita. With the price of gasoline above $2 a gallon, I spent more than $400 just for gas for the trip. Other than that, it was an uneventful trip, except for the three deer that ran into the road in front of us in western Kentucky. That turned out okay, as the only damage was some burned rubber from the panic stop.

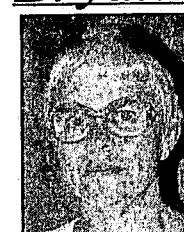

Anita and Dan, her husband, live in the Ozarks, where Dan is the "fire ecologist" for several scenic rivers managed by the National Park Service. Dan says his is one of only about 25 such positions in the entire nation. He has spent much of the spring managing controlled burns in several patches of woods in his areas of responsibility. In early spring, these burns mostly just consume the dry leaves and brush that accumulated over the past few years, and there is little damage to living trees. This helps keep the under-story more open to sunlight and lowers the fire danger for the drier times of year.

Daughter Cheryl and her husband, Mark, moved into a new home in Illinois last summer. This home has a large clump of trees on their lot behind the house. While there, Cheryl asked me to hang a couple swings on the tree branches reaching out over their backyard.

After buying rope at the local Home Depot, I hung the ropes on the limbs Cheryl selected. One rope has a round wooden seat that was intended as a table top. The other ropes were attached to a conventional swing seat and bolted to the under side of an overhanging branch. Two problems resulted. First, the tree branch comes from a smallish tree behind the big one that I originally thought it came from. Hence, between the rope stretching and the branch bending, the swing almost touches the ground, even with their youngest daughter, Jana, in it. Secondly, Mark decided he doesn't like the looks of a swing in the middle of his view of his woods. Trouble is, we couldn't find any suitable "swing limbs" anywhere else in or behind the trees. Their kids and neighbor kids were having a great time on the single rope swing with the round seat. I wonder how long the other swing will hang.

Beatrice Farnum and Ken and Alice Hoyt went to JoAnn and David Crockett's last Tuesday evening for cake and ice cream for Ray's 21st birthday. Several others were there.

The Woodstock Extension plans to meet on Wednesday, May 18, and tour a greenhouse.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens met on Thursday, May 5 with 26 members present. Ellsworth Hathaway and Joyce showed many of their woodcarvings.

There will be a Tai Chi session held on May 12 for seniors and anyone interested.

This is a total body stretching routine. The demonstrator is Nancy Willard. This will be held at the Woodstock Memorial Library at 10 a.m. There is no charge and it is open to the public. I saw this on TV one day and was very impressed by the moves. I hope to attend.

A large baby shower was held last Sunday at Liam's Restaurant in Bethel for Brandy Seames and new baby, Olivia Belle (Ollie). Many nice gifts were received. They received almost everything you can think of. Several persons from this area attended also from Bethel and surrounding towns. It was given by friends and family. I wish Brandy and Ryan much happiness with the new baby.

Those receiving all A's and B's in grammar school were Derrick Poland and Jonah Thurlow.

Receiving honors at TMS are Emma Davis and Desarie Cox.

THS honors go to Bailey Davis, Joshua Campbell, Chea Davis, Krystal Hadley and Jennie Cox.

I am looking forward to having a 50th Woodstock High class reunion. I have heard from most of the classmates. Hope all can make it June 11 at my home on Curtis Hill, South Woodstock.

I hope all you mothers had a good day Sunday. Ann Holt made dinner for her mom and dad, Faye and Leonas. Bob showed up with his daughter and boyfriend. David and Sally were there later in the day.

Leonas had a doctor's appointment Thursday. Ann was able to take him. He will have surgery, for kidney stones, later this month.

I finally got back home Friday and am staying with Albert and Marie.

On Sunday we had a lot of company: Steve Cogswell; Karen and Gary Green of Freeport; Glenn and Lillian Strait of Pownal, their two children and four granddaughters; Walter and Laurie Curtis of Kingsbury; Ray Curtis of New Hampshire; Timmy and Darcy, Fred, Mande and girls; Albert Jr. and William, Bonnie, Jason and Spencer Curtis from town.

I guess I'll be busy in the weeks to come with doctors and people coming to see me. Have a good week.

I apologize for not having my column in last week's advertising the PTO Mother's Day Breakfast. I did file it, but it didn't make it into print. That happens sometimes.

Next week, the 18th of May, Poet Laureate Baron Wormser will be reading from his new chapbook, "Carthage," at the Norway Town Office. The reading will be at 7 p.m. and everyone is welcome. Copies of "Carthage" will be available for $10.

Now that it is spring, I am looking forward to warm, sunny days so we can plant our garden. Unfortunately, we are experiencing rain, rain and more rain. I did see a few May flowers the other day. They were "blueets" or eye-bright." Here we barely even have the hint of grass. Guess that means we don't have to mow the lawn for a while yet. They say the sun will come out, soon.

Next Tuesday, the 17th, the Waterford Transfer Station Committee will meet at 6:30 p.m. at the Waterford Town Office. The agenda will include information on the ash pile removal, the clean woodpile and the new tire pile. Wiz should be able to report on the Oxford County Recycling Committee (aka Oxford County Solid Waste Corporation) meeting on May 11.

The Transfer Station staff will be conducting a survey to ascertain where patrons are coming from (what towns), and what kind of items they are leaving. Is it mostly MSW (Municipal Solid Waste or household garbage), tires, Construction Debris including furniture, metals or recycling? That will help with the future planning of financial and other needs. Please be helpful to the attendants. They are doing their jobs, not trying to be nosey or create problems for anyone.

The Waterford selectmen meet on Wednesday at 9 a.m. except for the third Monday when they meet at 6:30 p.m.

May 17 is the day for kindergarten registrations at Waterford Memorial School. Any child who will be 5 years old before Oct. 15, 2005 is eligible. Parents should check with the school secretary for details (583-4418).

Hope this goes through and is printed. Have a great week.

Lorraine's grand-son, Ricky McLean, son of Mandy and Mat Conkright and Richard McLean, got an award for being the most improved student of the year in his class and was to get to go to a Seadogs game and meet some of the players but, unfortunately, the game was called because of rain, and so he will get to go at another date. Anyhow, we are all pleased he won the award because going to school was a big adjustment for him and he worked hard to get better at it and enjoy it more and really shows a lot of improvement even outside the classroom. Way to go, Ricky.

Speaking of awards everyone was very pleased that Justin Palmer won the award for being "Employee of the Year," as recognized by the Bethel Chamber of Commerce. Justin works at the Cinnamon Stick and I know I am always pleased to get him as my waiter when I go to eat there. He is friendly, courteous, and is "Johnny on the spot" when one needs something, to say nothing of the fact that one's order is served as quickly as possible with nothing missing. Cannot do much better than that.

Debbie and Owen Brown invited me to have supper with them last Tuesday evening and introduced me to squid, which they had in chowder along with other fish. (My spell and grammar check tells me that one does not put an "a" in front of chowder. OK. Guess that makes sense.) Actually, I could not make out what any of the different kinds were except the shrimp. I am not a big fan of shrimp but I think it is more the way it chews up than the taste. Anyway the chowder was very good. They are good cooks.

I have been fighting off a cold, so Debbie gave me some tea that is supposed to help, and it seems to have lived up to its reputation as I was able to take Ann Fitzmorris shopping last Wednesday and I have not been coughing lately, and it feels as if it is almost gone. I can live with that. I am not fond of colds at any time but spring colds have a way of hanging on sometimes.

By the way, I forgot to mention that Debbie's father, Pip Cummings, is back at the Veteran's Home in West Paris. He has been having difficulty breathing lately and has had to be in the hospital a couple of times. Anyway, if you know Pip and are down that way, stop in and say hello.

My daughter, Marcia Smith, is planning to come for the week of June 6, so if you know Marcia, stop in for a visit. She does not get down this way very often.

I hope all you mothers out there had a good Mother's Day on Sunday. It was Ann Fitzmorris's turn to provide the snack at our church and she bought a nice Mother's Day cake, and when I was carrying it the cover popped off and I almost lost it off the platter. I think my guardian angel must have stopped it somehow, but it did not do much for the frosting around the edges when I pushed the cover back on. At least it did not end up in the parking lot.

I am more than a little annoyed at the way the Armed Services do not stop to think when it comes to the families of the servicemen. They no more get Brent and Jessica Lake and baby Hunter transferred to England when they send Brent off to Iraq leaving Jessica to cope with a baby in a country where she does not know anyone. Al and Crystal are going over and spending a few days with her and the baby. It is a good thing they do not mind flying, and I hope they have a good visit. But, it seems as if it would have made more sense for the powers that be to send Brent to Iraq before they moved the family to England and not directly after. I know scheduling is difficult, but really.

The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary had election of officers recently and elected Veronica Penley as president, Maggie Ring as vice president, Denise Swan as treasurer, and Missy Wakefield as secretary. Those present at the meeting were Kelly Newkirk, Veronica Penley, Maggie Ring, Lorraine Larson, Missy Wakefield, and Denise Swan.

From the

West Paris Public Library

The revival of a couple of these May traditions will be the theme of a program on Wednesday, May 18, from 3:30 to 5 p.m. at the West Paris Library. Boys and girls are invited to participate in the fun of making and hanging a May basket on an unsuspecting friend or relative. This was a favorite activity at recess and lunch breaks at schools and in neighborhoods years ago. Tradition has it that it was done on May 1, but in actuality it was a favorite pastime all during the month of May and sometimes resulted in extended recesses and lunch breaks.

Another tradition at many local schools was the wrapping of the Maypole. While this did not always result in a perfectly executed design, the fun of the process was worth whatever the results turned out to be. Weather permitting, and with enough children participating, this activity will also be on the agenda.

Plan to visit the library on Main Street in West Paris after school on May 18 to participate in these fun activities. All supplies will be provided.

From the

West Paris Universalist Church

The congregation of the West Paris Universalist Church is again watching very closely the growth of the annual rhubarb crop. May 21 has been designated as the day of their rhubarb pie sale. Pies and other food will be on sale at the church from 9 a.m. till sold out.

This year people may order ahead and have a pie reserved by calling Beverly Stevens at 674-2481 or Joyce Lamb at 674-2002. Orders called in must be received by May 17. Pies ordered in this way must be picked up by 11 a.m. on May 21. This is in addition to, but not in place of, food available for walk-in sale that morning.

As with many of the church's other activities, many of these cooks are second and sometimes third generation bakers for this event held annually for many years.

Tickets will be on sale that day on the quilt made this winter by the craft group of the church. The drawing for the quilt will be June 5 at the close of Old Home Days.

The church is located on Main Street in West Paris village.

From the

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

The first lecture of the 2005 season will be presented by Jean Hankins, Ph.D., of the Otisfield Historical Society, at the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center on Thursday, May 12, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. As this year marks the 200th anniversary of the founding of Oxford County, the topic of Dr. Hankins' lecture will be "Settling Oxford County."

Mrs. Hankins was born in Massachusetts and received her undergraduate university education at Tufts with graduate work at Pennsylvania and Connecticut. After thirty years at the University of Connecticut, where her late husband, David, taught English and they raised three children, David Hankins retired in 1993; he and Jean moved to the family farm in Otisfield that same year. Jean received her Ph.D. from Connecticut also in 1993. She had previously worked as a librarian, indexer and editor. Upon arrival in Otisfield, she set about exploring the town records and its history. She became especially interested in how Maine towns treated the poor. This interest resulted in an article, "A Cage for John Sawyer: The Poor of Otisfield, Maine," which was published in Maine History. It received the James Phinney Baxter Prize for the best essay published in 1994. She has also written another essay on the Otisfield Poor Farm, which has not been published, but is available on the Internet. In 2001, her third essay on the Otisfield poor, also published in Maine History, was titled "Every Town Shall Maintain Their Own Poor: New England's Settlement Laws." In 2003, she edited and desk topped published "A Maine Woman Goes South: Letters Written by Nellie Hankins While Teaching at Spelman College, 1925-1927." Forthcoming this year in another issue of Maine History will be the essay that is also the topic of her lecture, "Settling Oxford County."

The lecture is free and open to everyone interested in learning more about the early history of this western Maine county, which was incorporated on 4 March 1805.

The Bethel Historical Society will sponsor the 26th annual Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show on Saturday, May 28, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This show will feature the art of students in Grades 1-6 in SAD44. The topic this year is "Maine Barns" since the society will be hosting the Smithsonian Institution exhibition "Barn Again: Celebrating An American Icon" later this summer.

Also being held on Saturday, May 28, will be the society's annual St. Never's Day, which will be located at Society Director Stan Howe's house at 18 Broad Street from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Items in good saleable condition are still needed for the sale. Please, no clothing or used computer equipment. Items may be left at any time on the back porch of the society's O'Neil Robinson House (10 Broad, next to the Bethel Library) or at Stan Howe's house (corner of Broad and Mason streets) on his side porch. Anyone wishing to have items picked up should call the society office at 824-2908. Volunteers are also needed to help with the sale. Anyone wishing to give some time should also call the society office.

From Telstar Regional High School

Telstar Regional High School will present its spring musical this Thursday and Saturday at Helen C. Berry Auditorium with the musical comedy "The Lady Pirates of Captain Bree." The story takes place in the late 1800s on the deck of the merchant ship Kayla May. The show opens with the scurvy crew (talent being provided by various members of the Telstar staff) abandoning ship because they are about to be boarded by a ruthless band of lady pirates led by the infamous Captain Bree (Junior Danna Wilson).

The captain of the Kayla May, Captain Jennings (senior Andrew Raymond) and his first mate Fergus (senior Clayton Smith) are left to defend the ship with only the Swedish cook, the cabin boy, and three street-brawling prisoners in the brig.

Also on board is the wife of a British ambassador, Madam Prescott (senior Kayla Cole), her niece Julia, her nephew Samuel, and the famous writer, Professor Bidwell, all of whom Captain Jennings and his patchwork crew must now protect.

Try as they may, they are no match for the pirates who quickly overtake them upon boarding. When the pirates discover no treasure and only passengers, Captain Bree and her first mate Jane (Junior Charli McGrew) hatch a plan to ransom off their catch in return for their safety.

They send the cabin boy in a small boat with a note to the nearest port, and in the meantime they are content to occupy the Kayla May, subjugate the men and annoy the pompous duo of Madam Prescott and Professor Bidwell. During this interlude Samuel is dressed as a girl to protect him (the pirates hold a particular grudge against men), but Julia takes a strong liking to the pirates and desperately wants to join them.

Also, some of the pirates discover that having men around is not so bad and things start getting "chummy" between the crew and the captives.

The cabin boy eventually arrives in port, but instead of delivering the ransom note, he notifies the Royal Navy of the plight of the ambassador's wife.

When the navy warships are in sight of the Kayla May, Bree strikes a bargain with Madam Prescott; she will give herself up if her crew of lady pirates is allowed to escape and not be pursued, a deal Madam Prescott is more than willing to accept.

The two captains have silently established feelings for each other and upon hearing of this, Captain Jennings quickly decides to save Bree's life and foil the rescue efforts of the Navy. As for the ending, you will have to see for yourself.

Curtain times are 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 12 and 2 p.m. (matinee) and 7 p.m. (evening) on Saturday, May 14. Prices at the door for the evening shows are $5 for middle/high school students and senior citizens, and $7 for adults.

The Saturday matinee will be a flat $5 charge with a $15 maximum for families. All children under middle school age are free.

From the Friends of Telstar High/Middle School

The Friends of Telstar High/Middle School will meet Tuesday, May 17 from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the school library.

The agenda will include a presentation by a THS senior and a Career Week presentation by a THS junior.

Plans for the annual Telstar Car Show, scheduled for July, will also be discussed.

The Friends recently held a deli buffet for teachers in recognition of Teacher Appreciation Week.

From the Andover Education Fund

The Andover Educational Fund (Edfund) is a scholarship granting organization for those students who are domiciled in Andover.

To date, we manage three scholarships: The John and Eunice Prize Scholarship which is a $2,000 award to a high school senior from the town of Andover, who will be attending an accredited degree-granting college or university in the fall, and who has, in the judgment of the Edfund board of directors, made the greatest contribution to the town of Andover while he or she has lived here.

An essay stating individual or organizational contributions must be submitted by May 15; The Anna Thurston Memorial Scholarship is an award of $1,000 and disbursed for sophomore or second year of study. A 750-word essay of "What An Education Means to Me" must be submitted to the Edfund by May 15 for consideration; and The Sweat family Memorial

'The Fantasticks' at Gould

The Gould Academy Spring Musical, "The Fantasticks," hits the stage this Thursday through Saturday with four performances.

The Fantasticks' website describes the story: "The starry-eyed boy and girl next door fall in love, yearn for the dangerous attractions of the world outside, and then opt instead for fulfillment in each other's arms and in hearth and home."

Lead roles are played by Curtis Daniels, Loie Merritt, Kelsey Gamble, Alex Smith, Ani Hall, Mike Barrell, Julia Rhineland, and Aimey Harrison. Supporting roles are played by George Neptune, Brendan Baba, Clare Adams, and Winston Booth.

Seating is limited (the audience will be seated on stage with the actors) and tickets will be available for no charge during lunches in Ordway Hall on the Gould Academy campus Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, May 11 through 13.

Performances are on Thursday, May 12 at 7:30 p.m.; Friday, May 13 at 8 p.m.; and Saturday, May 14 at 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in Bingham Auditorium. The public is welcome to attend.

Scholarship that favors students who have a need and will gain benefits they could not otherwise afford. The prime consideration in the award shall favor students pursuing technical education, but is not limited thereto. A copy of the student's acceptance letter and financial aid report must be submitted to the Edfund by May 15.

These three awards will be announced at the Alumni Banquet on May 28.

The Charles Cutting Endowment Scholarship requires a one-page application that is available from the Edfund office. A copy of the student's acceptance letter, financial aid award, and the completed Cutting application form is to be returned by July 15 for board consideration.

The Common Application from Telstar is not necessary to apply for these awards — the essay, indication of which scholarship you are applying for, and the name of the applicant is what we need. Only Andover students are eligible.

Contact Sharon Hutchins at 392-4351 or edfund@mega link.net should you have any further questions.

READY FOR THE WHITE WATER
Students in Steve Keane's Telstar Challenge class will take a whitewater canoeing trip this month. As part of their preparation, they learned water rescue techniques at the River View pool in Bethel. Here, Mallory Blake "saves" Jenn. Learned as they practice how to hold a victim and swim to safety.

LOCAL STUDENTS ACHIEVE IN STATE SCIENCE FAIR
On Saturday about 300 middle school students took part in the middle school state science fair. Two Telstar Middle School students attended and did very well.

Both young ladies were judged 10 to 12 times within a three-hour block of time.

Meghan Bonney, seventh grade, received an award for Exceptional Presentation and Understanding Experimental Design from Jackson Laboratory for her project on trebuchet physics.

Lisa Piccirillo received three awards on her project on The Pixel Effect: from Bangor Hydro Electric Co. an award for Outstanding Achievement in Electric Technology; from Maine Middle School Science Fair an award for Best Research Paper (not awarded by grade level, simply runner up and winner); and the keystone award from MMSF.

There were third, second, and first place awards in each of the three science divisions; inventions, biological and physical. Piccirillo won second place in eighth grade physical science.

In addition, Carl Zurhust from Andover, who attends Mt. Valley Middle School, placed first in the state as a seventh grader in the inventions category.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU
EARNING YOUR LOYALTY
When you begin to search for a new home, you will probably encounter several Realtors at open houses, through friends or from signs or advertisements. Each agent would like a commitment from you to work exclusively with him or her. Is this arrangement in your best interest or is it better to play the field?
There is a universal law that also pertains to real estate agents - you get back from a relationship what you put into it. If you are not convinced that one agent could possibly fill all your needs, you may be overlooking the positive aspects of a one-on-one relationship.
The first step is to find an agent whom you like and trust. Don't be afraid to discuss your reluctance to work with one agent exclusively, but be open to other viewpoints. You may be pleasantly surprised by the open communication that such an admission will establish right from the beginning! Making a commitment to work exclusively with an agent is part of the formula for success in real estate.
The strongest accountability is in the marketplace. A good reputation and referrals from happy clients are essential to a Realtor's success!
For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

Card of Thanks

The family of Sue L. Wight would like to thank our family, friends, and neighbors for their support during this sad time in our lives.

Everybody has been so helpful. The Bethel Police Department, Oxford County Sheriff's Department, Med Care, the staff of Greenleaf Funeral Home, the folks at the Newry Town Office, and to all the wonderful people who sent food to our home and baked for our gathering.

We feel very blessed to live with in this caring community.

Thank You,
F. Owen Wight & Family

Special Thanks

I have started this thank you so many times because it is so hard to do. What words do you use to thank so many who have shown you that along with family they are also there during this sad time in your life? On April 30, friends, family and community members hosted a benefit supper in my name. I cannot express the feelings that came over me when I was told that this event was going to take place. Then, the overwhelming turnout of the community, family and friends, and the expressions of concern that they showed, let me know that although I feel very alone at times, I do have many people in my life that care.

I would like to express my gratitude and special thanks to Paul and Kay, Michelle, Debbie and Nat, Bob and Pat, Keith and Marilyn, Maureen and Randy, Rhonda, Lori, and the Albany Church community, for all the time, effort, flowers, and moral support. You truly have no idea how much it means to me. To the many businesses and individuals that donated items as well as time to make this benefit such a special event - thank you. To all the family, friends, and community members that came and participated in the supper and the auction - thank you so much for your support. I will be forever grateful and will never forget it. As I proceed forward through this sad time, the memories of the evening have shown me that I will never walk alone.
